Conference

SIARC
July 27 - 31, 2025

School of Behavioral and Brain Sciences
THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT DALLAS

What is SIARC?

SIARC is a unique opportunity for adults with hearing impairment and their communication partners to experience the benefits of cooperative learning in a social environment.

Participants will benefit from the expertise of guest speakers on several occasions during the conference. Topics in the past have included tinnitus, coping skills, and assistive listening devices.

Group classes on coping, facilitating communication, and how to use new listening technology will be provided each day.

Throughout the conference and planned social activities, participants will be able to try digital and programmable hearing aids and use various assistive listening devices that work with hearing aids or cochlear implants.

Personnel from the Advanced Hearing Research Center at the Callier Center will present innovations in hearing research and opportunities for research involvement.

Why Two People?

Hearing loss affects a person's communication with others. That is why SIARC is designed for a participant with hearing loss and his/her communication partner. The communication partner may be a spouse, family member, friend or co-worker. Individuals are also welcome to attend.

Registration Fee

The registration fee includes all classes, assessments, activities and meals. To ensure the highest quality of service and educational experience, registration is limited to ten couples.

If completed by July 15, 2025, the registration fee is $350 per couple or $175 per individual.

After July 15, the registration fee is $400 per couple and $200 per individual.
